

ABSTRACT

These inventions is in the field of drug delivery systems comprising of sterile gelling agents and in-situ polymeric gelled dispersions which maybe microparticulate for parenteral administration and contain a therapeutically active component. They may release the active agent immediately or over a period of time.